

GET ACCESS TO UKRAINIAN TESTING TALENT ON DEMAND!

Over the last 10 years, QualityWorks has trained and coached more than 150 persons from diverse professional and cultural backgrounds to become sought-after experts in Agile Test Strategies, Test Automation, Performance Testing, and Test Process Improvement.

Through our Managed Application Testing Service (QaaS), we are looking to partner with organizations that can benefit from access to talented, cost effective testers and are seeking opportunities to demonstrate their commitment to championing diversity and inclusion.

BENEFITS OF OUR PARTNERSHIP

Support the Ukrainian Tech Community

Our program is designed to train and upskill Ukrainian professionals displaced by the war so they may occupy testing positions within your tech team.

Easy Onboarding

Get access to job-ready testing talent to cut down your onboarding time so you can focus on your project's success. Our model eliminates your costs for recruiting, training, and retaining skilled technology talent.

Get Project Ready Manual Testers

We help you eliminate the "skills gap" by providing you with talent who go through intensive training to develop their core skills in testing, as well as in industry tools, technologies, agility, and communication—so you don't have to.

Ongoing Mentorship & Training

We provide customized extended training to meet your project, team, and business goals. Minimize the costs associated with attrition, recruiting, new hiring, and training.

WHY NOW

Identifying and developing strong technical talent has become a global crisis estimated to cost $8.5 trillion by 2030. With massive talent shortages, enterprises are impacted by the lack of skilled resources and expertise they need to compete. We have created a model for developing talent in underrepresented and at-risk communities, which impacts not only the local economy but also develops local businesses and expands the technical competencies needed to support innovation and global income opportunities.

WHY QUALITYWORKS

Partnering with QualityWorks means development cost reduction while enabling communities and organizations that are often overlooked. Unlike other development agencies, we have built a culture that empowers individuals and teams to leave their global footprint as experts and technical leaders. This culture is formed in the organizations that we serve with our services and products.

"QualityWorks is the premium outsourcing company you call to deliver projects that are critical to your company's bottom-line."

Aidan Short, Director of QA, Fandango.com

ABOUT QUALITYWORKS

Founded in 2010, QualityWorks is the leading black-owned, woman-owned software consulting firm specializing in software testing, digital transformation, and web application development. In 2015, we expanded from Los Angeles, California to open our nearshore office in Kingston, Jamaica.

We go beyond writing code; we are coaches who partner with our clients to improve their software delivery process, upskill their internal teams, and build apps that have massive impact. We save our clients thousands in resource costs and enable them to ship quality technology faster.
